County School officials say:

EFC recommendation needed to solve classroom shortage

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County School Board will not take measures to correct classroom shortages at Hancock North Central High School until a State Educational Finance Commission recommendation is received.
The board expects the EFC recommendation August 19.
HNC Principal Donald Hillman reported at a recess board meeting Saturday that four portable classrooms were needed this fall to alleviate overcrowding in the Physical Education Department.

However, most board members objected to purchasing portable classrooms at Saturday's meeting and reaffirmed their opinions at a recess meeting Monday morning.

A motion offered by Board Member Johnny Banks' at Monday's meeting calling for construction of 12 classrooms at HNC, three at Gulfview Elementary School and two at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School died for lack of a second.
Hillman said Monday afternoon, "Right now the school board is trying to borrow some portable classrooms from other school districts."

Woodrow Ladner said, "We can erase one deficiency cited in the accreditation report by moving one wall."
"We've got one room in the old home economics building at HNC that holds about seven students and another one next to it that holds about 30 students," Woodrow Ladner explained.
The school board president said the small room is used for a special education class and he recommended moving the class to a bookroom.
Louie Ladner stated, "Before we get any trailers I'd rather see us divide up the gym or agricultural room."
Banks said, "The second part of last year's bond issue was for additional 22 classrooms."
Louie Ladner added, "And that bond issue failed."
"Let's hold off until we receive the EFC report," he suggested.
Banks replied, "We've been holding off too long."

Waveland gas station robbery nets $3,000

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Waveland Police Department is investigating an armed robbery of $3,000 from a local gasoline station attendant.

Police are asking anyone who bought gasoline from the Amoco station at Our Shopping Center between 8:30-9 p.m. Saturday to call the police department.

Chief Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille said, "A female cashier was returning from the gasoline station's restroom when a man put a gun in her back and demanded money from the cash register."

"The cashier didn't see the robber, but she feels the culprit was a man," Tartavouille reported.

"Right now we have no leads in the case, so we ask anyone who bought gasoline between 8:30-9 p.m. Saturday to call the Waveland Police Department," the chief investigator said.

Patrolmen John Wilkerson, John

Perkins, Don Brelend and Investigator Sandra Henley and Tartavouille are investigating the armed robbery.

In connection with recent thefts of lawnmowers, Waveland police arrested Ronald J. Henry, 21, of 420 Clark St., Pass Christian, Tuesday afternoon and charged him with the Friday theft of three lawnmowers.

Tartavouille reported, "We recovered one of the lawnmowers, which is valued at approximately $250, and we're in the process of recovering the other two mowers."

"The mowers were stolen from two Waveland residents," the investigator stated.

"The case is still under investigation by Patrolman Chuck James and myself," he said.

"A hearing for Henry will be 6 p.m. tonight in Waveland City Court," Tartavouille added.

Receives ham radio license

Quadriplegic sets goals to better bedridden life

By RICH ADAMS
John Gavagnie, a 42-year-old resident of Bay St. Louis, has communicated with residents as far away as Houston, Texas on his amateur (ham) radio after recently receiving his novice operator's license.

He sends messages in morse code and types incoming messages on an electric typewriter located next to his ham radio.

Gavagnie said Tuesday many people receive their novice licenses and stop at that point, but the Bay St. Louis resident has set a goal of achieving the highest license available to a ham operator, an "extra class" license.

Gavagnie has established a number of goals in the past 11 years, ever since he drunkenly smashed his car into a telephone pole while speeding down

Hwy. 53 in Lyman on Dec. 16, 1969.

He has been paralyzed from the neck down since that day, and with the volunteer assistance of close friends in Bay St. Louis and New Orleans, La., the quadriplegic resident of Gulfview Haven Nursing Home has achieved a number of goals.

Gavagnie has modified his Heathkit ham radio so he can operate it with a plexiglass stick he holds between his teeth. He can turn the radio on, adjust it to the desired frequency, and send up to five words a minute on the sending key.

When a message comes in, Gavagnie uses the same stick between his teeth to type the words on his electric typewriter.

"I hope to be able to get my technician license in a few months," Gavagnie optimistically said from his bed at the nursing home.

"I became interested in radios five years ago when I started operating a citizens band (CB) radio out of my room. I still have my operator's license for the CB, but I don't use it," he continued.

"If it weren't for the support of a group of my close friends from Bay St. Louis and New Orleans, I would never have continued working toward my ham license," he said.

"I enjoy operating the radio. It keeps my mind occupied," Gavagnie added.

The Gulfview Haven resident said he wants to "go all the way" in everything he does, adding he puts 100 percent of all he has into any project he undertakes.

"I want to go all the way in this project, and I will fight for what I want. There is no way of stopping me, and I have all the ambition to get the top ham operator's license," Gavagnie said from his bed Tuesday.

He formerly communicated with a radio club for disabled operators out of Tennessee on the CB radio, but now he contacts club members on the telephone.

"This kind of thing can bring disabled people so close together. I have a number of friends in Vermont and Tennessee," Gavagnie said.

Waveland to hike basic water rates

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The City of Waveland signed a contract with the engineering firm of Lewis Eaton Partnership of Jackson, Thursday to prepare preliminary application for a Farmers Home Loan Administration loan in the amount of $500,000.

The monies will be used for the installation of a third elevated water tower in the vicinity of US-90 and Waveland Avenue.

A 10-inch water main is included in some two miles of water lines in addition to a new well to supply the water tower, according to Mayor John Longo.

Mayor Longo said, "I feel quite sure that when we get the 10-inch water mains in we will probably go into the next lower fire insurance rating. This reduction in fire insurance premiums will more than pay for the additional $2 per month addition in water rates for Waveland's residents."

Longo said FmHA indicated the rate increase should be $3 per month, but Waveland can do it and pay off the loan on only $2 increase per consumer.

The $500,000 loan with FmHA will apparently be signed on Friday night, Longo said Wednesday because, "We have a deadline for the money from FmHA and we want to have everything in order before the final day."

Bids for the project will be let in 30-45 days for improvements in the Spanish Trail and US-90 areas of Waveland according to Longo.

"This will be the first increase in water rates in Waveland in over three years."

New rules trim food stamp lists

An estimated 200,000 people, including 150,000 college students, will be dropped from the food stamp program, and food stamp costs will be cut by $80 million a year under the rules published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said the new rules, required by 1980 amendments to the Food Stamp Act, will cause 150,000 adult students (over 18 and under 60 years of age) who now receive food stamps to lose their eligibility on September 1.

The only exceptions will be low-income students with disabilities, or those who: (1) work more than 20 hours a week, (2) head households with dependents, (3) participate in a federal work-study program, or (4) are enrolled in a work incentive program.

In addition to eliminating most college students from the program, the new rules will cause 50,000 more food stamp recipients to lose their eligibility when a new assets limit takes effect on October 1.

Under the present food stamp law, most food stamp households must have assets worth less than $1,750.

The new law and regulations lower this limit to $1,600.

Households of two or more people, in which at least one person is elderly, will not be affected by the change. The assets limit for these elderly households will remain at $3,000.

"The rules issued carry out 1980 amendments to the food stamp law aimed at cutting program costs and tightening management," Foreman said. "Earlier this month the semi-annual cost-of-food increase was cancelled, and new procedures lowering food stamp income limits took effect."

"Together these changes are expected to save $448 million in the upcoming fiscal year," Foreman said. "With the publication of the new rules, we have implemented all of the savings provisions of the law that will affect eligibility for food stamps and benefit levels."

The interim final rules published in July 8 Federal Register also exclude the counting of federal, state and local energy assistance payments as income or resources. The interim final rules published in July 8 Federal Register also exclude the counting of federal, state and local energy assistance payments as income or resources in determining a household's eligibility for food stamps. Vehicles used by handicapped people also will not be counted as a household resource. These latter two provisions become effective, Oct. 1, 1980.

Real Estate

BY GAIL PRESSMAN, GRI

REALTOR

BUYING VS RENTING

To buy or to rent—that is the question. Both have their place. First, renting can be the answer for families who know they'll only be in the area for a short time or who prefer not to contend with maintenance. It's also the only solution for anyone with insufficient funds for the down payment on a home.

The main disadvantage of renting is a financial one. A lease may protect you temporarily, but when it expires, the landlord is free to increase the rent—even under rent control when justified. Rent payment cannot be deducted from income tax as the homeowner can deduct real estate taxes and interest on the mortgage payments.

Your best buffer against inflation is to own your own home. You'll also be pleasantly surprised to find it also is one of the best financial investments you ever made. Your payments will remain level while your resale value—especially in this area—will continue to rise.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

It is of grave concern to us, the collision of the two ships near Shell Beach.

Waters from the area, if they are polluted, can very easily affect our fishing grounds.

We are really amazed at the 'three ring' type of events which have happened since the collision. Special interest of course is given to the ship that left the area to cause pollution in the Industrial Canal.

We do not know whom to place the blame on, but we have a feeling that someone will be sad after a hearing is held.

The dangers we face each day and know nothing about amaze us.

We understand that Mayor John Longo is getting the grease hot for the big annual St. Clare's Fish Fry tomorrow night.

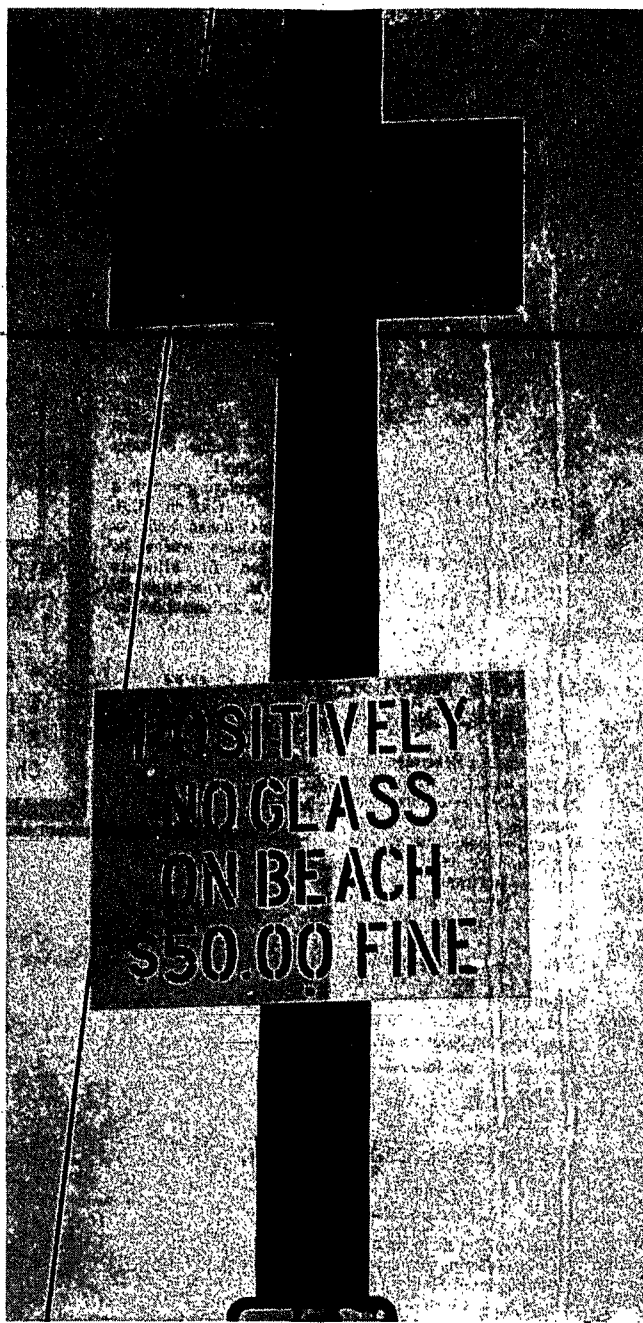

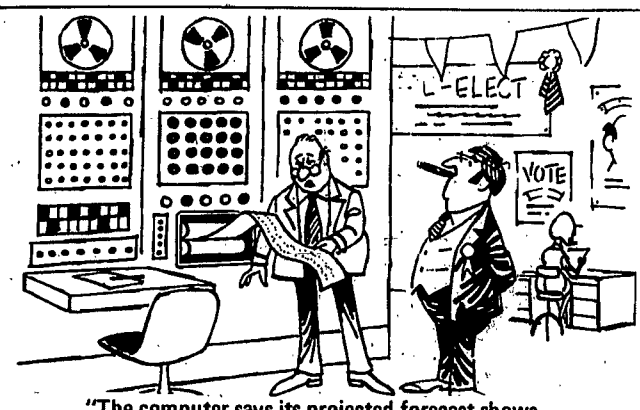

Longo is an old hand at fish frying and we understand he has a 'secret' recipe he takes out of hiding each year.

Saturday and Sunday will be St. Clare's Annual Fair with all types of foods, cakes, and games for all ages.

If you are out for a drive, visit St. Clare's in Waveland, you will really enjoy yourself and have a chance to see some of your friends.

Last week we were told about the signs being placed on the beach on the glass ordinance and were unable to see one. Guess we have to get our glasses changed.

Well we were able to see several of them this week and we are happy they have been installed to warn our visitors.

SOMETHING TO BACK POLICE—With the installation of signs telling those using the beaches in Hancock County about a fine for glass, our police can now enforce a very valuable ordinance. We are glad to see signs like this one at the head of Nicholson Avenue and hope to see many more along the beach.

THE OUTSTANDING RETAILER OF THE MONTH FOR JUNE was Jordan Bradford. Jordan is owner-operator of Bradford Seafood and Food Mart located on Coleman Avenue. He was chosen by the "Secret Shoppers" for his outstanding attitude and the courtesy he extends to his customers. Pay Murphy, Jr., retail chairman, said a $50 savings bond was presented to him. Congratulations Jordan! Remember the "Secret Shoppers" are out looking for that special retailer for July. Maybe it will be you!

Advance Notice to Prospective Bidders for the construction of a mechanical plant at the Ammunition Plant. Invitation for bids will be issued on or about August 1 and bids will be opened on or about September 16, 1980. The estimated price range of the proposed construction is between $15 million and $30 million. The work to be performed consist of construction of new facilities. One of the principal features of the work is a new building with approximately 36,500 gross square feet of floor space. The building uses structural steel framing with a precast concrete panel and metal siding wall system covered with a metal deck and built-up roofing. The foundation system for the building will be H-piles. For more detailed information contact the chamber office.

Successful - Milford Lady, tourism chairman, said Hospitality Day was extremely successful. A special thanks goes to the following chamber members participating: Sirloin Stockade; the Homestead Restaurant; Winn Dixie; Adams Loraine Flower Shop; the Flower Shop; Waveland Resort Inn; Buccaneer State Park; "Dolph" Kellar, president of the Hancock County Board

Welcome to our newest chamber members - President Wayne Ducomb welcomes the following new members; GRETA'S SHOE COLLECTION, Greta Darraw; SUPERIOR SUPPLY, Harold Thibodeaux; LAND MANAGEMENT SERVICES, Terry Randolph; ELISE'S PIANO STUDIO, Elise Becket; BILL ADAMS REAL ESTATE, Bill Adams; NATIONWIDE INSURANCE, Tommy Brooks; SUNBELT BUILDERS, INC., Denny Reott and Bill Gilpin; COAST SERVICES ASSOCIATES, Paul Montjoy; BAY AVIATION, INC., Andy Ewing; BORG-WARNER CHEMICALS, Leo Kowal, plant manager.

Remember the board of directors meet the fourth Tuesday of the month at 7:30 P.M. in the chamber office. Members are welcome.

It is too hot! These were the words of the agricultural committee, spearheaded by L.J. Breaux, concerning the Farm City Tour held annually in late July. L.J.'s committee suggested that we hold this popular event during late September or early October. For the newcomers in our area, the Farm City Tour is when the farmers of our area extend a cordial welcome to all chamber members to see their farms, produce and livestock. It starts at 9 A.M. and ends at 4 P.M. a MCTA bus picks up members and, of course, there is no charge for the event. Even though it will not be held for a couple of months it requires a lot of planning. We are asking you to call 467-9048 if you wish to attend this year. Reservations must be made for the bus.

Letters to the Editor

Reader asks more information on Hancock General situation

July 28, 1980

The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Sunday a week ago you published an article on a situation at the Hancock General Hospital, causing two of the better known doctors on the hospital staff to resign.

Since that time I have not seen another word on the subject.

It would appear that a matter so important to Hancock County precipitates some investigation by your paper to determine the causes for resignation of doctors, regardless of who they are, is warranted.

Information is not available to the individual, only rumors and rumors are the worse kind of information.

There are many older people in this County requiring the services of a good hospital.

As a citizen of Waveland, I know that this community is in dire need of hospital services.

I am sure the same applies to Bay St. Louis and the rest of the County.

I am disappointed but not surprised, that the mayors of Bay St. Louis and Waveland are not involved.

They are supposed to represent the citizens of each city.

The same goes for various civic organizations and churches, including the American Legion Posts, the VFW, The Waveland Civic Organization, Senior Citizens and Retired Federal Employees, and others.

I hope this letter will cause a few people to take notice and recognize the extreme seriousness of the situation that exists.

If you leave it up to the politicians you may as well forget it. All will be lost.

Yours very truly
Charles R. Shambley

Hancock General Hospital needs community support

July 28, 1980

To the Readers of Sea Coast Echo:

In regard to conditions at Hancock General Hospital, personally I am a patient of Dr. Sidney Chevis, whom I respect. I feel very well satisfied with his treatments in the last three or more years.

I do feel we need the Hancock Hospital.

I experienced good treatment, though I don't know what is between the doctors and hospital.

Maybe the supervisors could get as

Interested in our welfare as they are in Port and Harbor and Buccaneer Park.

I'm told that some equipment at the hospital is really antiquated, most as old as the hospital and useless.

Let's all pull together to keep the hospital open.

Bay/Waveland people have done wonders before and I'm sure if we pull together we can do it again.

Think of the people employed there, too.

Sincerely
Mrs. Louise B. Markey

Mayor shares with Council credit for over spending Bay budget

July 28, 1980

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Open Letter to the Citizens of Bay St.

Louis:
The Bay St. Louis Council at its meeting of July 22, 1980 discussed the over spending of the current budget. At that time a motion was made and passed asking me to curtail spending for the next two months.

I would like to remind the Council that I may not be the only person guilty of overspending during the past 10 months.

For example:

— The Council did not push for the start of the Small Cities Project for 1978 involving water and sewer extension on Washington, Sycamore and Keller Streets. The contractor was 38 days late in starting the project. That delay caused the job to run into the rainy season and $41,497 was spent on sand and shells to keep the roads open in addition to extra work by city employees.

— An engineer was paid $8,755 for a drainage survey on Main Street from Beach Boulevard to St. Francis Street. The estimate was given at $300,000 for the project. This is a needed project but where is the money going to come from?

— Two engineers were paid for plans for the moving of a sidewalk on Beach Boulevard. Council did not agree with the first engineer's plans so another was hired; yet, no work has been done.

— Other proposals have been given to engineers and their services paid for without money to undertake the project.

One of the reasons the budget for the year is running over in some departments is because of the age of vehicles. The Public Grounds, Street and Police Departments all have vehicles with a lot of mileage requiring extensive upkeep.

Since the Council has asked that I curtail spending, I am asking them to respond in kind.

If we work together I feel sure we will not overrun the budget by the end of this fiscal year.

Sincerely,
Larry Bennett

Over-spending is council's responsibility, not mayor's

July 30, 1980

The Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Sir:
Re: news item, Bay Council faces $92,000 overrun.

So the Council orders the mayor to reduce spending. Is it the mayor's fault that there is an overrun?

What money could the mayor spend that would cause an overrun?

The mayor cannot even order emergency repairs when a sanitary sewage pump breaks down.

Repairs must wait on approval of the Council.

The manhole on North Second Street, pictured in Sunday's Echo, overflowing filth and sewage onto the street and into the bayou is one of the results of this policy set by the Council.

The only way that the mayor can reduce spending is to reduce the daily services rendered to the public by his several departments.

Shall street maintenance be reduced? Does this make sense? Shall reductions be made in the maintenance and operation of the sanitary sewage system?

Have more manholes overflowing onto the streets?

How about cutting back on repairing leaks in the natural gas distribution system? These leaks are costing the city plenty of wasted money.

Reduce maintenance and operation of the water distribution system. Don't repair leaks that develop in the mains and allow the water to flood the streets?

Come next May at election time the voters will say, "The mayor didn't do this or the mayor didn't do that." So what? That's the mayor's problem.

Let's be fair. The Council has made another big bust. It isn't the first one by any means. Don't let us blame somebody else for what the Council has allowed to happen.

Sir:

I want to say how much I enjoyed Mr. Grady Thigpen's article. I got a good laugh when he said "his car was always stopping on him."

I could sympathize with him, as I had a car which did the same thing, but luckily so many good Samaritans stopped to help me.

I wrote you a letter some time ago about flying my flag until our hostages come home.

It's still flying, but it is in tatters. I hope they come home before it wears out completely.

Home building activity vigorous in Waveland

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Waveland has reported the highest dollar value of June building permits issued in the tri-city area including Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian.

Mississippi Research and Development Center figures for the month show Waveland with 32 permits valued at $283,706.
Bay St. Louis issued 12 permits on proposed construction valued at $100,150 and Pass Christian listed three valued at $5,645.

A value of some $163,000 was placed by owners on construction for which residential permits were issued in Waveland during June, contributing 62 percent of the total monthly figure.

Building Inspector Ducree Bourgeois of Waveland said residential permits were issued throughout the city in June with no particular development contributing to Waveland's relatively high report.

Pass Christian in June issued permits on a proposed $52,045 in residential construction.

Bay St. Louis issued no residential permits in June, but reported a $20,000 value for one commercial permit.

Neither of the other two cities issued commercial permits in that month.

Bay St. Louis had $30,150 of alteration, addition and repair work with Waveland reporting $78,906 and Pass Christian $3,000 in that category.

Waveland also reported the highest dollar value of building permits in the tri-city for the first half of 1980.

Dollar figures for the first half of 1980 show Waveland with $3,052,534; Bay St. Louis with $682,355; and Pass Christian with $534,725.

Cooperstown ceremonies to be on local cable tv

A live telecast of the colorful induction ceremonies of the National Baseball Hall Of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., will be televised by ESPN, Sunday at 1:30 p.m. over Hancock Community Cable's Channel 3. The Entertainment and sports Programming Network, will present the event nationwide via RCA's Satcom 1, Transponder No. 7.

ESPN will repeat the telecast at 9 p.m. August 3 and again August 4 at 3 a.m. and 5 p.m.

This year's inductees number Al Kaline and Duke Snider, super stars of the post-world war 2 era, and the deceased Chuck Klein, one of the game's top slugging outfielders in the National League from 1928 to 1944, along with Thomas A. Yawkey, for 43 years owner of the Boston Red Sox.

Kaline stepped off the Baltimore sandlots to a first string berth as an outfielder for the Detroit Tigers where he played for 21 years. He won a batting title in 1955 with an average of .340, the youngest major leaguer ever to have done so.

Snider, who performed as a clutch-hitting outfielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers starting in 1947, finished his major league career with the San Francisco Giants in 1964, posting a lifetime batting average of .285 and 407 home runs.

The induction of Kaline, Snider, Klein and Yawkey brings to 173 the number of baseball greats listed in the Hall of Fame.

In addition, ESPN in August is offering national coverage of the Southern California League where current and future professional players display their talents on NBA-affiliated teams.

Among the NBA's top rookies, free agents and current players in the Southern California League are Bernard King, formerly a University of Tennessee standout now with Utah; Reggie Carter, of St. John's and a second-round draft choice of the

New York Knicks; and Brad Holland, a UCLA great whose key baskets helped the L.A. Lakers beat Philadelphia in the 1980 NBA championship game.

Another player to watch is Billy Ray Bates, who found his way to the pros through a summer league program and was a late-season sensation for Portland.

The ESPN announcing team for the Southern California League includes Chick Hearn, the Laker's radio broadcast, and Tom Hawkins, former Notre Dame All-American and NBA player. Joining them will be Harry Shearer, regularly seen on NBC's Saturday Night Live. Telecast dates for summer basketball on ESPN are August 1, 4, 8, 11, 15, 17, 22, 25, and 29.

Soybean growers assemble in N.O.

Soybean growers from 24 states including Mississippi will meet in New Orleans Friday through Tuesday for the 60th anniversary national convention of the American Soybean Association.

"This four-day program is aimed at helping soybean producers find new ways to produce soybeans profitably in the 1980s," said Dr. Wayne Jordan, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service soybean specialist.

"Soybean farmers have been hit hard by inflation and declining prices. Growers who attend this convention will have an input into the policies of the association and a better view of the industry," he stated.

Speakers will make presentations and answer questions on a variety of topics, including interpreting markets, buying land and making it pay, soybean outlook, solar energy, estate planning, time-saving office tips and related subjects of interest to producers.

Dr. Jordan will be among panelists discussing solid seed soybeans, pros and cons of drilled planting.

"Outward Bound in the 80's" is the convention theme, chosen to remind growers of the importance of soybean exports and the continued association emphasis on worldwide market development, Jordan said.

Last year more than half of the soybean crop was sold overseas and about 70 percent of the overseas export of soybeans moved through the Port of New Orleans, he added.

The ASA convention is open to all soybean growers whether or not they are association members, he added.

NSTL opens new teacher resource room

An innovative Teacher Resource Room is now available to teachers from surrounding areas at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County. The Teacher Resource Room contains current NASA literature, lithographs and photographs. These materials can be utilized very well with students since they are "picture message."

There are eight different Skylab experiments developed for students first through eighth grades.

Also, most of NASA's recent movies (16 mm) are available on a lend-lease basis to the teachers.

These films can be picked up by the teachers, then mailed back to NSTL upon completion of the project.

A large number of slides can be checked out to provide supplemental material for lectures. These slides can be duplicated at NSTL and kept by the teachers.

The resource room will also contain bulletin board materials, such as Space Shuttle posters and planet pictures.

These posters can produce an instant bulletin board and yet be very graphic for the students to look at.

All the pictures, posters and films are available at no charge. The Teacher Resource Room is located at NSTL's Visitor Center, Building 1200. For further information call (601) 688-2321.

Loiacano to discuss strength at state coaches' convention

By EDGAR PEREZ
Former Mississippi State University strength coach J. E. Loiacano of Bay St. Louis will be among principal speakers this week at the 25th annual convention of the Mississippi Association of Coaches in Jackson.

Loiacano is former head football coach at Bay St. Louis and Gulfport High Schools and currently owner of Loiacano's Health Club in Bay St. Louis. He will discuss weight training at a convention workshop at 9 a.m. Friday. The state's high school mentors are headquartered at the Jackson Holiday Inn for the anniversary meeting. Loiacano is slated to speak in the hotel's Delta I and II meeting rooms.

The week-long convention will be highlighted by all-star high school basketball and football games Saturday. Scott Sanner, former St. Stanislaus High School back, is among players competing in the football contest.

Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday in Jackson Memorial Stadium.

The all-star basketball event is slated for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Mississippi State Coliseum in Jackson.

Other featured speakers at the convention which opened Monday include Chafle Pell and Jerry Stoval, head football coaches at the University of Florida and Louisiana State University, respectively; head basketball coaches Leon Bramore of Louisiana Tech and D.L. Whitney of Alcorn State University; Dr. Jim Montgomery, Millsaps College tennis coach; and Ron Polk, Mississippi State University head baseball coach.

Loiacano also recently conducted a strength clinic at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa.

He will be discussing strength training Friday with the Mississippi high school coaches for the second time, having also spoken at that group's 1976 annual meeting.

SPORTS

Saints owner Talladega 500 grand marshal

New Orleans Saints owner John W. Mecom, Jr., has been named Grand Marshal for the August 3rd Talladega 500 NASCAR Winston Cup stock car race at Alabama International Motor Speedway.

Mecom became the youngest National Football League club owner in history when he took over the Saints in 1966 at the age of 27.

His interest in sports, however, is not restricted to football. Mecom has always been an auto racing enthusiast. He and his father, John Sr., had a supreme sports thrill in 1966 when their entry, driven by Graham Hill, won the Indianapolis 500.

The Talladega 500 will be Mecom's first visit to the world's fastest speedway. As Grand Marshal of the $249,000 summer classic, he will preside over all official Talladega 500 festivities.

Mecom, a native of Houston, Texas, attended the Universities of Oklahoma and Texas. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He is married to the former Katsy Mullendore. The Mecoms have four children.

The Talladega 500 is one of the most unique auto races in the world. No driver has ever won the race twice in its 11-year history.

Bay jeep accident kills Arkansas man

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A jeep accident on Turner Street near Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis Sunday afternoon claimed the life of an Arkansas man.

Clarence Wayne Burkes, 26, of Route 2, Box 558, West Helena, Ark., died at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Hancock General Hospital from injuries received in the wreck.

The driver of the jeep, Fred C. Burkes Jr., 32, of 1130-Edna St. in Waveland, was charged by the Bay St. Louis Police Department with manslaughter, driving under the influence and reckless driving.

The two men were cousins. Police Chief Douglas Williams stated, "Clarence Burkes was found lying on the ground under the jeep with a large laceration on his head."

"He was taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock General where he died about 7:30 p.m. from multiple head injuries," Williams said.

"Fred Burkes suffered no apparent injuries," the chief added.

"According to a witness, the jeep was traveling at a high rate of speed and tailgating another vehicle. In an attempt to pass the vehicle, the jeep went out of control and flipped over twice at about 6:52 p.m.," Williams explained.

The police chief said Burkes was released on $5,000 bond and a preliminary hearing before Justice Court Judge Bruce Necaise would be scheduled next week.

Sunday night Bay Police also arrested Franklin M. Davis of 612 Keller St. in Bay St. Louis and charged him with driving while intoxicated, blocking traffic, resisting arrest and assault by threat on a police officer.

Williams reported, "Davis was allegedly blocking traffic on Booker Street near Commagere Baseball Park."

Davis was released on a $415 cash bond.

Patrolman Robert Williams was the arresting officer.

Davis was also charged by the Mississippi Highway Patrol with leaving the scene of a previous accident.

He was released on the additional charge on a $500 cash bond.

Highway Patrolman David Kenney was the arresting officer on that charge.

In other business, at the 9 a.m. meeting in the Youth Court Building, the board:

"I feel I know these people personally, and it has made me very happy," he added.

Recounting the accident which cost him the use of his arms and legs, Gavagnie offers advice to other people who drink and drive.

"People who mix alcohol and driving may just as well get a case of dynamite, sit on it, and light the fuse," Gavagnie said.

"I thank God I only hit a telephone pole and not a car. I am glad I am the only person that got hurt, not the parents of children in another car," he continued.

"If I would have been responsible for the death of someone's parents, I don't think I could live with that on my mind," he added.

His handicap has given Gavagnie a new outlook on life and deepened his religious convictions.

"Life is out there and you must go and get it. Life will not come to you," Gavagnie explained.

"I try to make my life as good as I can. I try to get as much life as I can," he added.

Gavagnie is now considering crusading for the removal of barriers to the handicapped in Bay St. Louis, such as high curbs and doors which prohibit handicapped from entering stores.

"This would be to protect the city as well as protecting the handicapped," Gavagnie said.

"The city should really go into full swing to cater more to the handicapped," he continued.

"If someone were to build a door only five feet high, just for a wheelchair, and a non-handicapped person had to use the door, I imagine his head would be banged-up very shortly," Gavagnie said.

Students cause county unemployment increase

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Hancock County's up-to-now steadily declining unemployment rate rose for the first time this year from 5.4 percent in May to 6.1 percent in June.

However, Labor Market Analyst Ian Shearer of the Mississippi State Employment Service's Gulfport office, explained, "This increase in unemployment happens every year during June as a result of students entering the job market."

The market analyst said the increased rate is a result of graduates entering the job market along with students seeking summer employment.

"Usually, both employment and unemployment figures rise in June," Shearer added.

In Hancock County 450 people were unemployed as compared with the 390 unemployed in May.

As cited by Shearer, the number of county residents employed also increased from 6,810 people in May to 6,920 in June.

Based on place of work, the number of non-agricultural wage and salaried employees in the county increased from 7,650 in May to 7,740 in June.

During June 1,060 of those working locally were employed in manufacturing and 6,680 were in non-manufacturing jobs.

Mississippi Employment Security Commission Executive Director Edgar C. Lloyd Jr. reported recently that the state's unemployment rate rose to 8.6 percent in June, an increase of 1.7 percent as compared to May's 6.9 percent jobless rate.

Last year's June unemployment rate was 6.1 percent.

Lloyd said the rise in the state's unemployment rate for June is due not only to the recession, but also to the annual influx of high school and college youth entering the labor force.

The 8.6 percent unemployment rate in the state is higher than the national rate of 7.8 percent for June.

Some 79 out of the state's 82 counties showed increases in their unemployment rates for June, while three counties had decreases in their jobless figures, based on state employment figures.

"The counties reporting the highest rates of unemployment were Alcorn, with a rate of 24.7 percent, Jefferson, with a rate of 20.5 percent, and Chickasaw, with a rate of 18.7 percent," Lloyd stated.

"Rankin, Franklin, Forrest, and Yalobusha counties had the lowest jobless rates for June. Rankin had a rate of 4.0 percent, Franklin had a rate of 4.9 percent, and both Forrest and Yalobusha had a 5.0 percent unemployment rate," the executive director reported.

State employment figures showed 89,200 unemployed and 951,600 employed out of a civilian labor force of 1,040,800. Initial unemployment insurance claims in June totaled almost 25,700. Continued claims totaled more than 149,000 for the same period, compared to just less than 76,900 one year ago.

Lloyd also announced that due to the continued high rate of unemployment in the state, the commission is now authorized to pay unemployment insurance extended benefits to eligible individuals.

Under the extended benefits program, an eligible claimant may draw additional unemployment insurance benefits up to a maximum of 13 weeks.

Lloyd explained, "Unemployed individuals who have recently received regular unemployment insurance benefits, but are not now eligible for these benefits, may qualify for extended benefits. To determine their eligibility, these individuals should contact their local claims center offices of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission."

Oak Downs records shattered

Special to the Sea Coast Echo
Pearl River, La.—Pearl River, La. Terry's Prince made a late move in the stretch to win the five-horse, three-furlong second race Sunday at Oak Downs.

Owned and trained by Sandra Norman of Pass Christian, Miss., and ridden by Gordon Moreau, Terry's Prince covered the distance in 37.95 seconds.

Spooky, owned and trained by Earl Lingo of Pearl River, broke on top and held the lead until caught near the finish line.

In the five-furlong eighth race, Billy Ellis' Shadow Jr. set a new meet record of 1:04.45 in defeating Run For Shelter. The previous mark for the 1980 meet at the Pearl River track at that distance was 1:05.3 set by Heat Wave, owned and trained by Red Crowe of Pearl River.

In the 250-yard third race, Omega Diana, the holder of three meet records, beat Good Time Sally across the finish line, but Omega Diana was disqualified for cutting in front of Good Time Sally at the start of the race.

The fourth through the seventh races were each decided in close finishes. Winning by three-quarters of a length each were Roman

Blaze in the 400-yard fourth, Hi Rebel Bar in the 440-yard fifth and Super Splash in the 330-yard sixth.

The closest race of the day was in the 400-yard seventh as Super Charm nipped Jet Imported by a nose.

JoAnn Boatwright of Cantonment, Fla., Oak Downs' second leading jockey, won three races Sunday, two of them on horses owned by her father, Joe.

JoAnn has 12 wins for the meet, two behind Jeff Peterman of Gulfport.

Joe Boatwright's two wins Sunday put him in second place in the trainer standings with four, trailing John Paul Amacker of Poplarville by one.

FISHIN' TIPS

from... Tom Mann

UNCLE TOM: "I once heard you say, at a fishing clinic, when your partner hooks a bass, cast behind his fish and you might catch one, too. Why?"
CURIOUS: "Well, fast are like chickens when it comes to feeding. When one grabs something, good to eat another one tries to snatch a piece of it. If you watch closely you will frequently see another bass trailing a hooked bass. Why not get in the habit of trying to catch these eager beavers?"

Hunters are permitted four teal daily with eight in possession. The taking of wood ducks or other species is prohibited during this period. Shooting hours are sunrise until sunset. Both state and federal duck stamps along with the state hunting licenses are required during the teal season.

LEADS CHIEF—Bay Catholic Elementary Troop 32 Member Missy Moran of Bay St. Louis, standing, leads her troop in a cheer during recent Field Day activities at McLeod Water Park in Hancock County.

The Bay-Waveland Girl Scout Neighborhood held its annual Day Camp recently at McLeod Water Park on the Jourdan River in Hancock County.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Schott, neighborhood chairman.

There were 20 brownies, 40 juniors, 12 cadettes, 2 senior aides and 14 adults representing 20 troops in the area.

A camp patch depicting the world was awarded to scouts who improved their skills and knowledge in outdoors, camping, first aid, sports, arts and crafts, and hiking.

Each unit chose a country as their theme during the week, and campers made costumes, cooked food from the chosen country and learned the history of each nation.

They also worked on a skit which was presented at the closing ceremony.

Brownie unit leaders are Mrs. Fran Cremer of Troop 460 and Mrs. Lou Monti of Troop 486.

Mrs. Laurin LaFontaine of Troop 453 taught the gypsy badge, assisted by Mrs. Dianne Miller of Troop 478.

The backyard fun badge program was under the leadership of Mrs. Linda Dorion of Troop 122. These units combined to form the fourth-grade Junior group.

The fifth and sixth grade juniors were under the direction of Mrs. Bee Gallegos of Troop 438. They received the sports sampler badge under the guidance of Mrs. Hilda Bourg.

Mrs. Alice Holmes was in charge of the arts and crafts for the entire camp.

The brownies and juniors molded and painted plaster of Paris trays, worked on crayon etchings, lanyards and leaf prints. The cadettes made a macrame hanging flower pot holder.

The 'Challenge of the Environment' was the highlight of the cadette week.

Under the direction of Mrs. Paddy Johnson, these scouts improved the nature trail at McLeod Park. They marked, cleaned and improved the trail and received pins for the work.

American Legion presented an American Flag to McLeod Park.

The Girl Scouts served as the honor guard for the ceremony to dedicate the flag. A reception followed in which campers were invited by the American Legion.

The cadettes camped out and cooked all their meals.

The juniors joined the cadettes for a night of camping.

The cadettes conducted an 'Olympics,' which was the final requirement for the Sports Badge. They were assisted by Mrs. Hilda Bourg, who helped them fulfill the requirements for this badge.

Relay races, races, comic races, ball throws, cabbage ball and kick ball were some of the activities of the Sports Badge requirements. Ribbons were awarded to the winners of each division.

Parents were invited to attend the closing ceremony.

Each unit presented its own entertainment.

The Brownies chose Hawaii. They performed a Hula dance and a bamboo stick routine.

The fourth grade Juniors chose Spain as their country. They acted out a play entitled 'An American Girl Joins the Girl Scouts in Spain.' At the end of this bilingual play, the girls sang 'Jesus Loves Me' in Spanish.

The fifth and sixth grade Juniors chose Mexico as their country and danced 'The

Mexican Hat Dance.'

Mrs. Ethel Schott awarded the Camp Patch, and badges and pins to the scouts who fulfilled the requirements.

Stars were given to scouts who participated in day camp for two or more years.

The ceremony ended with a 'Scout Oath,' which is an impressionary ceremony expressing the spirit of Girl Scouting. This program was directed by the fourth grade Juniors.

The next Girl Scout Neighborhood Activity will be a swimming fun and game activity day. This event will be Thursday, Aug. 7 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at St. Clare's pool in Waveland.

All registered Girl Scouts are invited to attend and to bring lunch. Drinks will be provided for this free day of activity.

To register for this event or additional information, contact a Girl Scout leader or Mrs. Ethel Schott at 457-9733.

Library system loans skyrocket

While temperature records across the nation have been broken in the past few weeks, the Hancock County Library System has been breaking its own records. The number of books, records, films, filmstrips, and audio-visual equipment borrowed by Hancock Countians during the month of June reached an all-time high of 8,325 items.

Of this amount 6,727 items were borrowed from the headquarters library in Bay St. Louis. 689 items were borrowed from the Waveland Library and 929 items were loaned at the Kiln Library. This breaks the record set in June of 1979 which was 6,033 items loaned.

The record breaking circulation was not unexpected, according to Library Director Prima Wusack.

"Our yearly circulation figures have shown substantial increases over the last five years," she said. "The total numbers of items loaned in 1979 was 51,000. This was an increase of 6,000 items over 1978."

These increases can be attributed to many factors such as better library facilities and increased hours and services. The Library

Bay Junior Auxiliary schedules fund raiser

A Wine and Cheese Party, the annual fund-raising project for the Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary will be held Saturday, August 2, at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, beginning at 8 p.m.

The Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary is a service organization which represents a serious endeavor on the part of young women to become active and constructive participants in the community and to assume responsible leadership in meeting the problems of the community. Projects annually sponsored by the group include the Hancock County Special Olympics; the RIF (Reading Is Fundamental) Program in the county schools; the Clothes Closet, which provides clothing for needy and burned out families; and Santa's House, helping special education students provide Christmas presents for their families.

"We have been hard-pressed to keep up with the unprecedented growth in library usage," said Ms. Wusack. "With the continued support of our government officials, we hope to increase services to meet the needs of library users in the coming years."

The evening's festivities consist of entertainment by Colby Fabian and a live auction of such items as plants, dinners at various restaurants, homemade and handmade articles, a party tent, a birthday party and other interesting objects d'art.

Tickets for the event are $15 per couple and can be obtained by calling Jean Scaffide at 467-3284 or Grace Santa Cruz at 467-5002.

Consumer specialist outlines pressure cooking pros and cons

MONEY TALK

By Norine Barnes

Pressure cooking can be an economical, fast method of preparing food. Foods cooked under pressure usually require only one third the time it would take to cook them conventionally.

For example, a five pound beef pot roast can be cooked in a pressure saucepan in about 45 minutes, whereas it would take about three hours in the oven. The greatest time saving is likely if the food to be prepared usually takes two or three hours to cook conventionally.

When the pressure saucepan or cooker is placed on the burner, it takes a few minutes for the water to boil, and for the pressure to reach the 15 pounds per square inch that is needed for most pressure cooking.

Then the cooking time, as indicated in the recipe booklet, begins. After the cooking time is up, there still may be a few minutes delay while the pot cools and returns to normal pressure.

This additional cool off time at the end of the cooking process is not added to the time cited in the recipe book. Therefore, an extra 10 or 15 minutes should be added to recipe times to get a realistic picture of how long cooking will take.

A vegetable that takes a relatively short time to cook by conventional method may not be a wise choice for pressure cooking, because it may take more time than by conventional methods when the heating up and cooling off time for pressure cooking is added. The heating up process can be shortened a bit by starting with very hot water in the pressure saucepan.

It is foolish and dangerous, however, to try to shorten the cooling off procedure by removing the lid before pressure has returned to normal, even if only a small amount of pressure remains in the pan.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has found that accidents with pressure cooking utensils are usually caused by one of two kinds of misuse:

1) forcing open the pressure cooker before it has cooled or depressurized completely, and

2) opening the pressure cooker to add ingredients when it registers low pressure, early in the cooking procedure.

Although time saving is usually the biggest selling point for cooking with pressure, there are other advantages as well. Because only a small amount of water is used when cooking with pressure, and because cooking time is greatly reduced, pressure cooking helps foods retain their nutrients and flavor; and vegetables tend to keep their natural color as well.

Less expensive cuts of meat will become tender and flavorful when cooked with pressure. Cooking quickly with pressure also means less fuel is consumed.

467-2222VA expects increase in outpatient care

A continued emphasis on outpatient medical care during fiscal year 1981 will provide veterans with even more treatment than in the past, according to Mike Ladner, Hancock County veterans service officer.

He said VA expects 17.5 million outpatient visits to the agency's hospitals and clinics during the fiscal year, an increase of nearly a quarter of a million visits in the past two years.

"Our emphasis on outpatient treatment, where it is medically indicated, not only enables us to treat more veterans but we can operate on a more cost-efficient basis," he said.

But with greater use of VA outpatient facilities, Ladner pointed out, it becomes even more important for veterans to make and keep appointments for treatment. "In an operation as large as this," the official said, "we can encounter delays in treatment unless everyone cooperates fully in scheduling appointments and cancelling them if circumstances arise which prevent them from being there."

Ladner said VA has asked Congress for nearly $1.2 billion for outpatient medical treatment in FY 1981, an increase of $30.8 million from the previous fiscal year.

VA has requested almost $6 billion for medical care this year, an increase of over $100 million from FY 1980.

WW II REMEMBERED—Herman Hinton, top, and Claude Ulmer retrace the route their 641st Ordnance Company followed after the D-Day invasion of Europe. Both men will attend the Fourth Annual Reunion of the 582nd and 641st Ordnance units to be held in Laurel Aug. 1-3. (USM Photo)

WW II units set reunion this week

On D-Day, June 6, 1944 and in the following two weeks after the Allied invasion of Europe, a million men landed on the Coast of France and began the mile by mile fight through the Normandy hedgerows. Among those troops were the 582nd and 641st Ordnance Companies, two units of all black enlisted men.

Veterans of the two World War II companies, including Col. Herman Hinton of Laurel and Claude Ulmer of Tylorville, plan to hold their Fourth Annual Reunion in Laurel, Aug. 1-3.

The 582nd and 641st distinguished themselves throughout the war years from their training days in the early '40s to action during the "Battle of the Bulge" at Bastogne.

Their job was to supply all types of ammunition to front line troops and supporting artillery units. According to Col. Hinton, that could mean being one hundred yards or five miles from the fighting. "On the morning of June 22, 1944, three French women passed by our ammunition dump. They said nothing. There was something about the way they acted that caused one of the fellows to say, 'Something is wrong... something is going to happen today.' At 11 a.m. the German planes hit us," mused Ulmer, a Sergeant of the 641st.

During the attack the unit lost 38 men seriously wounded and all equipment to the strafing aircraft and resulting explosions of their own stores of munitions.

"We simply had to wait for the explosions of the black powder to subside before we could go back in, assess the damage, regroup and resupply the company," said Col. Hinton, a captain at the time and the commanding officer of the 641st.

They were back in action within 48 hours.

The companies continued to advance along with the other units of the U.S. First Army enduring "Buzz Bombs," a rocket propelled explosive, snipers and the other hazards and horrors of the war.

Both Hinton and Ulmer recalled a quiet Thanksgiving Day in '44 when the 641st shared their rations and hosted the people of a small town in Belgium. Later, in December, they entertained the young children of the village with a Christmas party.

"The faces of the children watching Santa Clause, with his red costume, white beard, two bags of toys and switches and a face as black as midnight was something to behold," wrote Col. Hinton in a narrative of the 641st exploits.

The 641st was formed from the 582nd, both units made up of black enlisted men and a handful of white officers. Almost all the men lacked previous military training. They trained in various Army posts in the U.S. before leaving for the European theatre, the 582nd in '43 and the 641st in '44.

"We traveled mostly by train between training centers," Ulmer said. "The trains were segregated then and the officers were forced to ride in separate cars from the enlisted men. They didn't want to, but we were told that was railroad policy. Nobody liked it. But we lived with it."

The units have had three previous reunions in Winston-Salem, Atlanta and Dallas. Each year attendance has increased and the Laurel reunion promises to be the largest ever.

Many dignitaries will be on hand including: Governor William Winter; Congressmen Trent Lott and G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery; Mayors Bill Patrick of Laurel, J.W. Walker of Tylorville and Paul B. Thompson of Raleigh. Representatives of the Pentagon and the U.S. Army are also scheduled to attend.

"For 35 years the men of the 582nd and the 641st have had my respect and admiration for their dedication and service to our country," Hinton said. "I can't wait for the reunion to start so that I can see the men and again express my personal gratitude for a job well done."

The reunion is being coordinated by the Department of Conferences and Workshops at the University of Southern Mississippi. For additional information write Box 5056 Southern Station, Hattiesburg, MS 39401 or telephone 601-286-4261.
